Rev. Michael Schlatter preached "at a place called Springfield or Schuggenhaus", to a congregation of Reformed people, served by John Conrad Wirtz, which shows that the first place of worship was either in the house of Christian Schug or in a house built on land given by him. On Sept. 29, 1747, Christian Schug was present at the first meeting of the Coetus of Pennsylvania, held in Philadelphia. On November 12, 1763, Christian Schuck, of Springfield township, conveyed to the trustees of the Springfield church one acre and 56 perches. The cornerstone of the first stone building erected in 1763, which is still preserved in the front wall of the present building, contains the initials of the building committee, one of them being C. A Balthasar Hamman came to Pennsylvania on Snow Molly, landing at Philadelphia, October 26, 1741. He was then 19 years of age. In 1752 a son, Jacob Hamman, was born to him. It is, therefore, possible that this Jacob Hamman, who arrived 1749, was the father or uncle of Balthasar Hamman and that this son Jacob was named after his grandfather, or his uncle.

Jane Addams of Hull House fame, was a granddaughter of Barbara Ruth and a great-granddaughter of Peter Ruth. Abraham Staud, both of Gimbsweiler, leave for America.

Abraham Staudt, of Gimbsweiler, was born at Herschweiler April 5, 1672. He was the son of Tilghman Staudt, a member of the town council of Herschweiler, and the censor or ruling elder in the Reformed congregation. He was married to Engel Becker, a daughter of Wilhelm Becker, of Ilbheim. Seven of their children reached majority: Abraham, Hans, Andreas, Johannes, Katharina, Hans Nickel, juror of the Court of Justice, who was married to Anna Katrina Son tag-; and Agnes, the wife of Johannes Geiss, of Gimbsweiler. Three of the sons, Abraham, Andreas, and Nickel, ended their days in Pennsylvania. Abraham Staudt was married on February 8, 1701 to Anna Katharina Geiss, a daughter of Hans Georg Geiss. She was born at Gimbsweiler, February 28, 1734, and died there April 28, 1734. They were the parents of three sons and eight daughters, of whom the three sons and five of the daughters came to Pennsylvania. Abraham settled with his son George in Salisbury township, Lehigh County. The latter was a member of Zion Reformed congregation.

Jacob Staudt, born at Wolfersweiler, October 13, 1710, died at Perkasio, Bucks County, April 30, 1779. The home he erected is still standing. He was a member of the Tohicken Reformed congregation. He has many descendants. A son Abraham was a member of the Constitutional Convention of Pennsylvania at the time of the American Revolution. Jacob was the first of the family of Abraham Staudt to come to Pennsylvania. On the same ship in 1737 were two of his kinsmen, John Staudt, aged 30 years, and Hans Adam Staudt, aged 19 years. Anna Katherina, baptized October 21, 1701; Anna Elizabeth, baptized April 18, 1718; and Anna Barbara, born April 7, 1722, followed their brother to Pennsylvania the following year. They probably sailed on the ship Glas glow, which landed at Philadelphia on September 9, 1738. Quite a few of the passengers on the ship were from Zweibruecken, among these were Daniel Staudt, aged 45 years, and Peter Staudt, aged 17 years. The latter was a member of the Tohicken Reformed church in Bucks County, where a gravestone marks his place of burial. Lisa Margaret, born in 1715, was married on February 11, 1738, to Johan Nickel Klee, of Wohrbach. The year following the marriage they accompanied her father Abraham Staudt to Pennsylvania. Mattheis Staudt, the younger son of Abraham Staudt, was born December 26, 1725. Tradition has it that he came with his father to Pennsylvania. Margareth Katharina, baptized April 19, 1724, is believed to have also been in the party sailing for the land of hope and promise. Matthias being only 14 years of age his name does not appear among the passengers. He settled in Bern township, Berks County, where his cousin Michael Staudt had settled in 1733. A headstone at the Bern Reformed church marks his place of burial. Dr. Calvin K. Staudt, missionary at Bagdad, is a descendant.

 Jacob Stephen, Oct. 20, 1744, ship Phoenix.
- 1748 Johann Adam Schreyer of Nohefelden leaves for America.
- 1749 Jakob Britius widow of Wolfersweiler, leaves with four children for America.
 Johannes Michel Staudt, a nephew of Abraham Staudt, was born October 9, 1712. He was the son of Johannes Staudt, a member of the Select Council of Wolfersweiler, and a grandson of Tilman Staudt. The father Johannes Staudt was born at Hirschweiler January 9, 1678. and died at Wolfersweiler October 6, 1755. He was married at Wolfersweiler July 16, 1699, to Maria Engel Britzius, a daughter of Johan Nickel Britzius, of Achtelbach, Juror of the Court of Justice. At the baptism of Johannes Michel Staudt, Michel Bruck and Johannes Geiss, of Gimbeiler, were godfathers, hence the name Johannes Michel. The godmother was the mother's sister Christina Britzius. Michel Staudt was the first of the family to make his home in Pennsylvania. He sailed on the good ship Merchant of London, which landed at Philadelphia September 18th, 1733. On October 25, 1737, there was surveyed unto him a tract of 180 acres on the west bank of the Schuylkill River opposite "the flat meadows." He was already seated on this land at the time of survey. He apparently returned to Zweibruecken in 1749 to visit his parents and friends at Wolfersweiler.
 Upon his return his brother Johannes accompanied him. In the same company most likely was the widow of Jacob Britzius of Wolfersweiler who "with her four children left for America in 1749." Johannes Staudt resided for a time with his brother Michel, and then removed to Brunswick, Schuylkill County, where he died. Michel Staudt died at Stoudts Ferry on the Schuylkill May 3, 1776, and was buried at the Bern Reformed church, of which he was one of the founders. He was the father of 12 children.
 George Wilhelm Staudt, who qualified at Philadelphia on October 20, 1744, and Johan Nickel Staudt, who landed at Philadelphia September 18, 1773, were probably brothers of Michel Staudt. It is known that he had brothers of those names. The several notes on the Staudt family are rather extended. The purpose is obvious. To make this information available to the many descendants, and to show by this cross section, as it were, how these families that emigrated from Zweibruecken were related by ties of kinship.
 Jakob Hornberger of the same place, with his wife, leaves for America.
 Michel Hujet of Hamweiler leaves with his wife and four children for America.
 Michel Schmeyer of Wallhausen leaves with his wife and seven children for America.
 Johannes Staud, of Wolfersweiler, leaves for America.
 Michel Staud, of the same place, leaves for America.
 Ludwig Born of Dellfeld leaves with his wife and children for Pennsylvania.
 Ludwig Born, a tailor, was born in 1702 at Rimschweiler, in Zweibruecken. He and his wife Anna Maria, settled at the Swatara, in the present Lebanon county. He was an elder of the Swatara Reformed
